In The Spotlight

Paul (Gig) and Barbara (Barb) Gerhardt met in 1954 at a Chicago Drive-in called "The Red Lantern", where Barb had a temporary job as a car-hop. After high school, they both attended the University of Colorado, where Gig earned a degree in Political Science. The couple married in 1958. Gig joined the U.S. Army and after basic training they spent 1 yr. in Mass. and 2 yrs. in Heidelberg, Germany, where their daughter Katie was born.

After military service, they lived for 7 yrs. in Chicago where son, John, was born. Paul was hired as the first permanent Executive Dir. of the American Accounting Association in Evanston Illinois. The lure of warm weather and water drove their decision to move the headquarters to Sarasota, first downtown and then close to Lakehouse West on Bessie Drive.

They co-authored a book, "Choice Matters", (a catalyst for discussion and possible change). Gig wrote a light-hearted book, "Feline Four" and Barbara has written and illustrated two children's books, "I Am of Scram" and "Pathways". She also loves painting, gardening, and she spent many years in real estate and real estate management. Their interests include tennis, golf, sailing and bridge. They lived on Siesta, Casey, and Lido Keys before "The Oaks", where they lived for the past 26 years.

Gig and Barb are fortunate to still have their children close by. Their daughter Katie lives 1 mile away and son John lives in Nokomis. They love Lakehouse West and their new apartment and look forward to meeting and making new friends while becoming a positive part of their new community. Welcome Gig and Barb!

Chef Ignacio Suarez, Lakehouse West Director of Food Services, was born in Havana, Cuba to parents of Spanish descent. He came to the United States at 9 months old, grew up in Kansas City, then moved to Southern California and Miami. Ignacio, his wife, Beth, and their 2 children, Cory and Anthony, came to Sarasota in 2003 and have lived in Lakewood Ranch ever since.

The majority of Ignacio's career in Sarasota has been at Aviva/Kobernick House, where he was the Executive Chef for 17 years. Prior to that, he was at the Glenridge on Palmer Ranch. In Miami, Ignacio built his culinary career working at many of South Florida's finest restaurants before finally attaining his lifelong dream of opening his own restaurant. The restaurant was a family affair with his wife Beth running the front of the house, his parents helping out wherever needed and Ignacio serving up delicious Northern Italian cuisine for 8 years. In his spare time, Ignacio enjoys traveling with his family, spending time with his grandchildren and fishing with his son. Ignacio is very personable and friendly. He welcomes your suggestions and comments and looks forward to meeting everyone. Interviews by Ginny Cardozo

Getting Involved

Cheers For Our Volunteers!

"A volunteer is a person who willingly undertakes a meaningful task that aims to benefit others."

Each month NEWSBITS will highlight one of our residents who has been an active volunteer over time, not only here at Lakehouse West, but throughout their lives!

Joan Rubinstein

Multi-talented and accomplished artist, Joan Rubinstein has spent most of her life volunteering in her areas of expertise, music and art. She is currently giving a series of lectures on classical music and the life of the composers. Her warmth and intimate approach is enlightening and her lectures here and at neighboring senior facilities have been received with great enthusiasm.

What may come as a surprise is the fact that she is also a professionally trained violinist and an award winning painter! Although she always loved to draw and began painting at the age of eight, once she was introduced to the violin she developed a passion to become an accomplished musician. In High school, during World War II, she shared her talent for music and art when she joined the American Red Cross and was sent to Veterans Hospitals where she played the violin, led singing groups and sketched the faces of the veterans. In college she gave up her dream of becoming a professional violinist and decided to become a serious painter. By1980 she had her own studio, entered group art shows and exhibited at the World Trade Center. As a volunteer, she judged art shows, taught art classes and served on the board of artists' equity. Whenever she could, she managed to find time to visit nursing homes, singing to the residents.

Joan moved to Florida in 1993 and joined Brandeis, a research university, where she started a music study group and began lecturing on the history and appreciation of music. As she was still immersed in painting, she also joined the Palm Aire art association where she served on the board, displayed her paintings and helped to hang the resident's art at their annual exhibits.

Within a short time she volunteered her time to work with Cyesis, a program through the school system which offers young pregnant unwed teenagers an opportunity to get an education. Joan's goal was to help improve their reading skills through music. She continued her work as part of the "reading ladies " program that eventually moved into various elementary schools in Sarasota and Bradenton, finding it to be a very rewarding experience.

There has always been a feeling of profound emotion, serenity and passion in Joan's paintings much as it was when she played the violin. Over the years it has influenced her lectures, enabling her to describe to her audience the heart and soul of the composers and their music She has never hesitated to give generously of her time and expertise when asked to give a lecture. Being the multi-talented artist that she is, Joan has made a major impact on heraudiences, genuinely deserving of our thanks, appreciation and recognition.
